From then on, the Indigenous Australian population experienced a drastic cultural and social change. Today around 68% of the Aboriginal population [ ] live in urban environments (Knudsen 2004, S. 73). Despite the progress in assimilation, smoldering sources of social friction between Aboriginal people and the white community, like unemployment, poverty, alcoholism and bad health care, remain. These subjects often occur in literature of indigenous authors, especially poetry, the most popular genre of Aboriginal creative expression in English (Shoemaker 1989, S. 179). Another important theme, which is often worked up in indigenous poetry, is the urban Aboriginals' relation to their cultural heritage, which will be the topic of this term paper. This theme...
